Does the FBI provide apostilles?

Yes. The CJIS Division will authenticate US Department of Justice Order 556-73 fingerprint search results for international requests by placing the FBI seal and the signature of a division official on the results if requested at the time of submission.

Documents prepared in this way may then be sent to the US Department of State by the requester to obtain an apostille if necessary. This procedure became effective on January 25, 2010 and will apply only to documents finalized after that date.

Requests to authenticate previously processed results will not be accepted.
