

LEGALIZATION OF LAOTIAN OFFICIAL DOCUMENTS

Read carefully the following instructions where we explain in detail the procedure for legalizing Laotian official documents at the Embassy of Spain in Bangkok, so that they can have legal effect in Spain.

Please note that the Embassy of Spain in Bangkok does not legalize Spanish documents, it only legalizes official documents from Thailand, Cambodia, Myanmar and Lao.

Since Lao is not part of the Hague Apostille Convention, Thai documents that need to have effect in Spain cannot be apostilled, but must be legalized through the diplomatic channel, following these 4 STEPS:

1. First, you must obtain the document from the relevant Laotian department/agency.
2. Secondly, you need to take the document for its first legalization to the Ministry of Foreign Affairs of Laos. The Ministry will place a stamp on the document like the one attached in this email. As far as our Embassy knows, Laotian authorities translate the legalizations into English and, in some cases, into Spanish.

3. Third, once the document has been legalized by the Laotian Ministry, you must bring it to the Embassy so that we can carry out the second legalization. Once it has been legalized by us, we will notify you by email so that you can come and pick it up.
4. Finally, once you have the document doubly legalized, you must have it translated into Spanish by a sworn English-Spanish translator, which you can find at the following link: TRADUCTOR JURADO. Sworn translators have digital signatures, so you can carry out the translation online easily. This translation does not need to be legalized afterward.
